Privacy Policy

At OpenML, accessible from openml.org, one of our main priorities is the privacy of our visitors. This Privacy Policy contains types of information that is collected and recorded by the OpenML website and how we use it. It applies only to our online activities and is valid for visitors to our website with regards to the information that they shared and/or collect in OpenML. If you have additional questions or require more information about our Privacy Policy, do not hesitate to contact us.

General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

We are a Data Controller of your information. OpenML's legal basis for collecting and using the personal information described in this Privacy Policy depends on the Personal Information we collect and the specific context in which we collect the information:

OpenML needs to perform a contract with you

You have given OpenML permission to do so

Processing your personal information is in OpenML legitimate interests

OpenML needs to comply with the law

OpenML will retain your personal information only for as long as is necessary for the purposes set out in this Privacy Policy. We will retain and use your information to the extent necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our policies.

If you are a resident of the European Economic Area (EEA), you have certain data protection rights. If you wish to be informed what Personal Information we hold about you and if you want it to be removed from our systems, please contact us. In certain circumstances, you have the following data protection rights:

The right to access, update or to delete the information we have on you.

The right of rectification.

The right to object.

The right of restriction.

The right to data portability.

The right to withdraw consent.

Log Files

OpenML follows a standard procedure of using log files, with the sole purpose of improving the user experience. These files log visitors when they visit websites. All hosting services do this as a part of hosting services' analytics. The information collected by log files include internet protocol (IP) addresses, browser type, Internet Service Provider (ISP), date and time stamp, referring/exit pages, and possibly the number of clicks. These are not linked to any information that is personally identifiable. The purpose of the information is for analyzing trends, administering the site, tracking users' usage of the website, and gathering demographic information.

Cookies

Like any other website, OpenML uses 'cookies'. These cookies are used to store information including visitors' preferences, and the pages on the website that the visitor accessed or visited. The information is used to optimize the users' experience by customizing our web page content based on visitors' browser type and/or other information. You can choose to disable cookies through your individual browser options (see your browsers' respective websites).

OpenML does not share this information with any third party, and does not run any advertising services.

Children's information

OpenML does not knowingly collect any Personal Identifiable Information from children under the age of 13. If you think that your child provided this kind of information on our website, we strongly encourage you to contact us immediately and we will do our best efforts to promptly remove such information from our records.

Consent

By using our website, you hereby consent to our Privacy Policy and agree to its terms.